

AT&T Cabling Systems Training Seminars in Australia

AT&T Cabling Systems has successfully completed another two-week training sessions in Australia during March 2016.

“Earlier this year AT&T Cabling Systems organized a roadshow in Brisbane, Melbourne and Sydney. We spent two days in each city running CI training and technical seminar targeting technical professionals of structured cabling industry. Consultants and engineers from various organizations attended our technical seminar covering some of the hot topics of Structured Cabling industry. During our roadshow we trained more than 100 technicians from various Comms and Data Installation companies. We are happy to announce that we now have a seamless network of certified installers across the nation who can assist end users with their projects as well as day to day jobs. Please feel free to contact our sales team in Australia to find out the contact details of our CI partners in various regions in Australia.” said Rashesh Chokshi, AT&T Cabling Systems sales manager in Australia and New Zealand.
